ECONOMY IN COAL.

Fuchien Lump Coal stands for economy in coal value. All lump coals have a large percentage of dust which are practically waste. The dust in FUCHIEN Lump burns into lumps as soon as they are cast into bellows. Fuchien Lump coal burns gradually and is therefore a decided economy.

3,600 TONS.

BRITAIN'S SUPER SUBMARINE.

12-INCH GUNS.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, June 18.

It is reported that the super submarine will mount 12-inch guns.

[Britain's new super-submarine XI, largest in the world, has been launched privately at Chatham].

LATER.

The super submarine mentioned earlier displaces 3,600 tons submerged, 1,400 tons greater than the largest German submarine.

It is reported to be propelled by electricity submerged and steam on the surface.

The cost, without armament, is £820,000.

DRASTIC ACTION.

CHINA TRADE'S URGENT NEEDS.

PROPOSED GENDARMERIE.

LONDON, June 17.

The Federation of British Industries, in the course of representations to the Foreign Office urged that drastic action is imperatively necessary to protect the legitimate trade interests of both Chinese and foreigners.

The first step must be to secure the main trade routes from interference by bandits and rebels or irresponsible local authorities. The Federation suggests that special gendarmes might be instituted. Under the orders of the Central Chinese Government, the gendarmes should be trained and commanded by competent foreign officers, say British.

INDIANS' RIGHTS.

ADVERSE CROWN COLONY LAWS.

RETALIATION THREATENED.

BOMBAY, June 17.

Venkatapaduraju has given notice for a motion in the Assembly that steps should be taken to impress the British Colonial Office that if Indians in Crown Colonies are denied British citizenship and rights of equality treatment, the Indian Government will be compelled to take retaliatory measures and suspend further emigration of assisted labour to any British colony whatsoever.

COURT MARTIAL.

PRIVATEES WHO DISOBEYED
COMMANDS.

REFUSED TO GO TO BED.

A District Court Martial was held this morning at Murray Barracks, presided over by Major C. P. F. Warton, O.B.E., 24th Bombay Grenadiers, when two cases occupied the attention of the Court.

Pte. McLoughlin was charged on three counts in that he disobeyed the lawful commands of a superior officer; with striking a superior officer in the execution of his duty, and resisting an escort. Prisoner pleaded guilty to the first charge, and not guilty to the others.

The incidents which helped to bring Pte. McLoughlin before the Court, all happened on the eighth of the sixth month, as one witness frankly put it, and arose from the fact that the private refused to go to his bed when ordered to do so, the other incidents of the charge arising from that refusal. Various witnesses were called, and the prisoner himself gave evidence, stating that he visited the Canteen and afterwards adjourned to a part of the barracks where there was a gramophone and some dancing. Lt. P. C. Agar, M.C., who acted as "The Prisoner's Friend," pointed out that the prisoner was not addicted to drink and this being so his visit to the Canteen and the effect the drinks had upon him might well be considered unusual. He suggested that had prisoner been given a little more time in which to obey the commands given him he would not be in the position he now found himself, and in ordinary circumstances the incidents of the striking and the refusal to go to bed would not have taken place. His character hitherto had been excellent and his relations with the

FLYING ROCK.

HAPPY VALLEY BLASTING
ACCIDENT.

EUROPEAN LAD INJURED.

As a result of blasting operations by coolies working for a Government contractor, at Wong-Nai-Chong Road, much damage was done to the Police Club Buildings and the Bowling Green last evening. A European lad was badly injured.

It is estimated that a hundredweight of rock, in fragments, was hurled into the Club premises. Master Albert Moss, the seven-year old son of the Chief of the Fire Brigade, was hit and knocked senseless for a time. He received two nasty cuts over the left eye and one of his hands was cut by a flying fragment.

A large rock fell on the roof of the Club, making a big hole. Several flower-pots were broken and three large holes made in the bowling green. At the time, the Club premises and the grounds were packed and those present state that it is a marvel only one person was hit.

N.C.O.'s always of the best. The Prisoner's Friend felt he could not appeal too strongly on the prisoner's behalf.

The Court found the prisoner guilty on the three counts, sentence to be pronounced in this course. Pte. Brown was charged with disobeying the lawful commands of a superior officer. In that on the 5th April last he refused to make up his bed at the Military Hospital, although ordered three times to do so. Evidence was called and the prisoner also gave evidence in his own behalf.

He was found guilty, sentence to be pronounced later. Lt. Riddling acted as defender.

CIVILISATION CRACKING.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING PEOPLE'S TASK.

BRITISH PREMIER'S SPEECH.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail.)

LONDON, June 17.

In a speech at the dinner given by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust at Oxford, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Premier, said, that the civilisation of West Europe was cracking and the whole world was consciously or unconsciously looking for salvation to the British Empire and the United States.

If there was building up to do in the world it was the English-speaking people's long run to have to do it, but the task would require the courage of a Pitt and the faith of a Lincoln.

DEATH SOON AFTER.

LONDON, June 18.

Sir Henry Primrose was found lying in Kensington Gardens in evening dress early on Sunday morning, a bullet wound in his head and a revolver beside him.

He was taken to hospital but died shortly afterwards.

He had been suffering from insomnia and neurasthenia.

[The Rt. Hon. Sir Henry Primrose, K.C.B., C.S.I., I.S.O., P.C., son of the late Hon. Bouvierie F. Primrose C.B. (Lord Rosbery's second son) entered the Treasury in 1869. He was Private Secretary to the Viceroy of India (the Marquis of Ripon) from 1880 to 1884, and to Mr. Gladstone in 1886; Secretary to H.M. Office of Works, 1886-95; Chairman of the Board of Customs, 1895-99; Board of Inland Revenue, 1899-1907; and Chairman of the Pacific Cable Board, 1907-14. Seventy-years old, he was a widower, his wife, whom he married in 1883, having died in 1919.]

NEW YORK, June 17.

The banking house of Kuhn, Nachod and Kuhn, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, which has a record of 70 years in Wall Street, has failed.

The statement declares that the assets are ample to meet the obligations "provided they are administered wisely."

The firm did a large business in travellers' letters of credit. A member has estimated that about $500,000 was thus invested.

The firm's liabilities are stated to be $11,000,000 and the assets in securities about the same.

MARINE COURT.

CHARGE AGAINST CAPTAIN
WATSON.

In the Marine Court, this morning, before Commander C. W. Beckwith R.N., the case against Captain J. Watson, master of the B.L. s.s. "Gorleston," was set back until next Wednesday. Captain Watson is charged on two counts (1) with unlawfully failing, on arrival in port on June 13, to furnish the Harbour Master with such information as is required in accordance with section 22, S.S. 2, of Ordinance 10 of 1899 (2) with carrying 77 passengers without a passenger certificate.

MINOR OFFENCES.
Ho Ping was fined $50 for making his boat fast to the s.s. "Ming Sang," while under way in the harbour at 8 a.m. this morning.

Chan Sze, charged with a similar offence, was remanded on bail of $20 until to-morrow to enable the complainant of the "Ming Sang" to be called.

Liu Yau, master of cargo boat 61V, and Leung Ng, mistress of boat 544V, were fined $5 each for causing an obstruction by anchoring their boats in the Southern Fairway, Victoria Harbour, yesterday.

Kwok Mui and Chau Yee, mistresses respectively of cargo boats Nos. 1272 V and 2540V, were fined $5 each for a similar offence at the same place on Saturday last.

Mrs. Lester Norris

That "Gates's heiress" won't go any more. The former Miss Dellora Angell, who inherited the $38,000,000 estate of John W. ("Bet a Million") Gates, wants the world to know that she is Mrs. Lester Norris, housewife, now. She said so when she arrived at her $50 a month home with her new husband, a commercial artist, whose father is an undertaker.

Montreal Cold Storage Plant

The Harbour Commissioner of the Port of Montreal, Canada, have just completed this $2,500,000 cold storage warehouse. It contains 4,500,000 cubic feet of storage capacity and is one of the largest plants of its kind in the world.

Mount Lassen

Mount Lassen, the only active volcano in America, is in violent eruption. Settlers near the base of the mountain are reported to be in serious danger. The last violent eruption on Mount Lassen was in 1915, when several buildings were destroyed.

The official cases reported recently of the use of adrenalin in restoring heart to persons supposedly dead has attracted widespread attention from the medical profession. Officials of the Tri-State Medical Association, made up of 30,000 physicians are paying especial attention to the injection of adrenalin into the muscles of the heart to restore life and to prolong it.

Steve O'Connor, E.J. Parker, Mrs. Edna Morro

The lives of eight men and their woman cook, marooned by the ice floes on South Fox Island, 20 miles out in Lake Michigan, were saved when an aeroplane owned by Francis J. Parker, flew to them with foodstuffs. The lumbermen were almost without food on "Starvation Island" when Parker and Steve O'Connor, reached them. Shortly after Parker landed another plane appeared, dropping food. The rescued are shown watching the approach of the second plane. Mrs. Morro is shown cooking the first real meal the men had had for a month.

O.K. Davis, James A. Farrell

The National Foreign Trade Council held its annual meeting recently. The Chairman of the Council is James A. Farrell, of whose slogan is "Greater Prosperity Through Greater Foreign Trade." O. K. Davis is Secretary of the Council.

Boyer Family

Mrs. Joseph Boyer and her four children, the eldest 11 and the youngest less than a year old, have been ejected from the Indian reservation in Canada, because the mother had married a white man 25 years ago. The woman, an Indian herself, speaks neither English nor French and has been left penniless in Montreal. The ruling from Ottawa has stirred fear and indignation and is thought to be the first of many cases in which the Government intends to remove Indians who have married whites.

Chauncey Depew

Chauncey Depew, America's youngest old man, celebrated his 80th birthday by working at his desk as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the New York Central Railroad. "How long, Mr. Depew, may we hope to have you with us?" he was asked. "Bless you," he said with a chuckle, "I don't want to set any limit. I love this old world too much to think of leaving it. I have just been sensible," he added. "No fads, no serum, no monkey glands—and no golf."

HONGKONG NOTES AND COMMENT.

LOCAL CHINESE TRADE.

Spite of today being a festival day, there has been considerable activity in Nam Pak Hong. Agents of Canton rice dealers are buying local prices are steadily rising, with prospects of further advances. The Dragon Boat Festival is one of the four important days of the year. Rumours have leaked out of any possible failures due to impending obligations and the conclusion to be drawn is that, although times are hard with stocks being tied up, money is fairly easy. However, it must be mentioned that during the last few years, Chinese merchants have been very loath to give credit, except for short periods and the turnover for a festival has therefore been considerably diminished. Very few trades can show good reports for the first part of the year but the enforced dullness has had one satisfactory effect. Knowing that outlets for goods have been practically closed and are likely to remain so for some time, there has been no chance for speculation. The most enterprising merchant can only follow a hand-to-mouth policy with the result that nothing big has been involved.

Rice.—Continual small purchases for shipment to the interior have had the effect of sending prices up. Business was done to-day at $7.45 for No. 1 Siam Long White and $6.37 to $6.40 for No. 1 Saigon Long White. There have been a few arrivals but only in small lots.

Sugar.—Both importer and dealer seem to be confined to a "wait and see" policy with the result that the market is devoid of activity. Nominal quotations are: No. 24 Rough White $13.30 No. 24 Soft White $13.67 No. 18 Rough Brown $13.10 Java Brown $11.50

Dealers and speculators who have stocks on hand are willing to accept less but the stage has now been reached when prices are so low that there is little difference between importer's and dealer's prices. Considerable stocks of No. 24 Rough White are in speculators' hands, these having been sold to them during the boom a few months ago. Practically all holdings of No. 24 Soft White have been sold by dealers and gradually used up locally.

Flour.—Absence of purchases and inquiries have caused a depression with prices going steadily downwards. American "Patent" however remains firm as there is not much stock in the Colony. "Straight" and "Cut Off" grades have dropped. The quantities of Australian and Shanghai flour in Hongkong have never been large at any time this year. To-day's quotations for the well-known American brands are as follows:—

"Sperdy's X X X"	$3.55
"Big Gun"	$3.00
"Dayton"	$2.88
"C & C"	$2.87
"White Greens"	$2.86
"White Rose"	$2.85

OLD CHINA FIRM.

EFFORT TO SAVE REISS BROS. LTD.

Following meetings of the creditors and contributors of Messrs. Reiss Bros. Ltd., merchants, Manchester, one of the most important firms engaged in trade with China, an assistant official receiver said it was informed that friends of a family were actively engaged in a scheme for securing the continuance of the business, which was established more than a century ago.

In summary of the firm's last balance sheet, dated June 30, 1922, the official receiver showed that the liabilities were then £2,445,701 and the deficiency £487,177. His report further stated that he understood the directors of the company had pledged practically the whole of the private assets with the company's bankers, and that no debentures whatever had been issued by the company.

CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

TWO YEARS' JAIL FOR GUNMAN.

MAN WITH A DAGGER.

There are eight cases for trial at the Criminal Sessions, which opened this morning. Accordingly both the Chief Justice and the Puisne Judge are sitting.

Before His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir William Rees Davies, Man Chuen was charged with being in possession of a revolver and nine rounds of ammunition at Ma Tau Wat on May 21, without having a licence.

Inspector Clark was in charge of the case. Prisoner pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment.

SEEKING REVENGE.

In the second case, before the Chief Justice, Mak Kun Yan was arraigned for being in possession of a dagger without a licence at Shauiwan on June 5.

Inspector Lanigan was in charge of the case. Accused pleaded guilty. He told the Court that some weeks ago he was attacked by two men and badly assaulted. In consequence, he borrowed the dagger from a friend in order to take revenge.

Mr. A. Dyer Ball, for the Crown, informed the Court that a piece of wire was found on the prisoner when arrested. Prisoner said this wire was the handle of a pair of scissors which he had forgotten to leave at home. He was sentenced to 12 months' imprisonment.

On a similar charge Wong Fan pleaded guilty, his excuse being that it was a frame-up by an informer, named Lo Lai, and the Police. The yarn was too thin for the Chief Justice, especially as prisoner was found in possession of a gag besides the dagger. He was sent to jail for 2 years' rigorous imprisonment.

PIRACY CHARGE.

In the second case for hearing before the Puisne Judge, Chiu Tai-fu, Man Yau and Chan Lai-chai were charged (1) with piracy on the high seas on May 3 and (2) with wounding with intent on the same date.

Inspector Dorrington was in charge of the case. Mr. Holmes appeared for the Crown. The prisoners, who pleaded not guilty, were undefended.

Before the Crown case was opened, a third charge of wounding was entered.

Mr. Holmes said that the master of the junk pirated, of which the accused formed the crew, was returning from Macao, where he had sold his fish. The family were asleep at about 2 a.m., when they were attacked by the accused. All were seriously wounded. After overcoming the family, prisoners escaped in the dinghy, taking with them $600 and a quantity of clothing. The son of the boat owner and his mother steered for the nearest land and reported the matter to the police.

Prisoner No. 1 was arrested on May 8 on a local launch. The other two were arrested in Macao and sent back here some days later. The last two laid the blame on Chau Tai-fu, who, they allege, was first attacked by the master of the junk. Mr. Holmes read the statements made by the prisoners, all to the effect that the master of the junk had assaulted them, as a consequence of which they left the boat. They claimed the clothes which they were accused of stealing. No money or valuables have been recovered. The case is proceeding.

7d, which, with the amount of £90,292 17s 2d brought forward, makes a total of £1,740,587 17s 9d. The directors propose to deal with the balance of profit as follows:—Interim half-yearly dividend on the preference capital at 7½ per cent per annum, paid on the 12th December, 1922, subject to deduction of income tax, £150,000; dividend now to be paid on the ordinary capital at 7½ per cent per annum, paid on the 12th December, 1922, subject to deduction of income tax, £361,861 18s 3d; dividend now to be paid on the ordinary capital at 14½ per cent per annum, making, with the interim dividend, 11 per cent for the year, subject to deduction of income tax, £699,599 14s; amount to be placed to general reserve account, making the total £900,000, £62,215; amount to be placed to suspense account, £225,000; amount to be carried forward, £91,911 5s. 6d. The shareholders will, at the annual general meeting of the company, be asked to empower the directors, from time to time, to issue to the staff and work-people of the company (not being directors) ordinary shares in the company to a number not exceeding 100,000, without such shares being first offered to the ordinary shareholders, in proportion to their holdings. It was proposed to post the dividend warrants on Tuesday, the 12th June.

BEGINS ANEW.

A JOB AND A CHANCE HERE.

J. Hulze, the American citizen born of British parents who was remanded by Mr. J. R. Wood on a charge of vagrancy last week, came up again this morning.

Detective Sub-Inspector Cockle informed His Worship that he had secured employment for defendant. Inspector Cockle added that defendant's behaviour during the last week had been good.

His Worship then advised defendant to give up drink and go steady. If he came before the Court again his appearance this time would be remembered as the proceedings would be recorded. Defendant tendered his sincere thanks to the Magistrate and left the Court.

CRIME, RESPITE.

BROKEN YESTERDAY WITH ROBBERY.

ARMED MEN RAID SHOP.

Thanks to the strict surveillance of the police, no armed robberies have been reported for some weeks. This good record, however, was broken yesterday. Kwan King, managing partner of a charcoal and firewood firm of 204b, Canton Road, Yaumati, states that at 7.30 p.m., yesterday six men entered his shop, three of them carrying revolvers. With seven of his foks he was driven into the back of the shop. The robbers then took a key from him and opened the safe from which they abstracted $500. A pair of trousers was also stolen from a box.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Warning About Nerve Strain.

Dear Sir,

During the whole of the war I was chief engineer on a coasting steamer, and the ever-present danger of floating mines made it a nerve-racking job. I lost two brothers in the war, and when, three years ago, I had another severe shock by the sudden death of my mother, I suffered a complete nervous breakdown. My nerves became so bad that I could get no rest whatever. I was so weak and run down that I was afraid sometimes to cross the road, and eventually became in such a state that I dared not go out. Indigestion attacked me, and the mere thought of food was nauseating. I tried all sorts of remedies and had doctor's medicine, but could get no permanent benefit.

Some time ago I read about Dr. Williams' pink pills, and I decided to try them. Now I can hardly express my feelings for the great good they have done me. Soon after commencing the pills I felt the benefit, and by the time I had taken five boxes, all signs of nervous trouble and indigestion had left me. I now feel like a new man, and strongly recommend any sufferer from nervous breakdown or stomach trouble to try Dr. Williams' pink pills—they are a boon to mankind.

I am, Yours faithfully, William J. Tomlinson. 12, Crags Street, Barrow-in-Furness. Note: For the information of readers it may be mentioned that throughout the Far East Dr. Williams' pink pills are sold in glass wax-sealed bottles, instead of in boxes, this being necessary for climatic reasons.

CAREER OF A CROOK.

ENEVER DICK TURPIN UP TO DATE.

In his closing speech for the prosecution in the case of Edwin Alexander Enever and others, Mr. Travers Humphreys remarked that in the present day rogues who set out to rob the public discard the simple plan of the old highwaymen and take advantage of the facilities of the Companies Act. This is certainly true, says Truth. The up-to-date Dick Turpin is a fraudulent promoter—or, as the Americans call him, financial faker—who secures his plunder by such an adroit misuse of the law that he can rarely be brought to book in a criminal court. Hardly a week passes without a reference in Truth to companies which are palpable rams, but nevertheless ramps which it is virtually impossible to squelch. A striking illustration of this is furnished by the career of the man Enever which I related at length in an article last September entitled "The Career of a Crook." It is true that justice has now overtaken him, but, as I showed, he had a long run as a swindler. He was engaged in company-mongering in India until 1910, when—India having become too hot for his health—he came to London. His doings in India had been reported to me, and very soon I revealed the fact that he was carrying on a similar game here. He promoted I know not how many joint-stock swindles, against which my readers at any time were duly cautioned.

Enever did not usually publish prospectuses or send out circulars profusely. He caught his victims through veiled advertisements and in other more or less indirect ways—particularly by picking up acquaintances in hotel lounges and elsewhere. He is an adventurer with a persuasive manner and a plausible tongue—at least so I infer from the success with which he tricked so many persons. Ladies found him irresistible, and a number parted with all their money for worthless shares, one widow being thus relieved in a few months of no less than £18,000. In civil actions judgment after judgment was given against him on the ground of fraudulent misrepresentations, but Enever cared nothing for the judgments of civil courts, nor was he worried when he was adjudicated a bankrupt—as he was in 1914 and again in 1918 and 1920. Like more eminent financial crooks, such as Bottomley and Hooley, he knew how to cheat his creditors and live in luxury as an undischarged bankrupt.

Next to impressionable women, I believe that Enever discovered his easiest prey among retired officers innocent of business experience. They were the chief sufferers by the fraud of which he has now been convicted, and in nearly every instance they were induced to subscribe for shares—the amounts ranging from £500 to £5,000—by the offer of salaried jobs. Some mining concessions in China formed a sort of basis for the frauds, which were worked through the agency of companies of Enever's called Humphreys and Denman, Ltd., the Anglo-Chinese Trust and Mercantile Corporation, Ltd., and Alexander Allan and Co., Ltd., the last named being a bogus bank. These concerns and others too numerous to mention were all located in a handsome furnished establishment at 77, Knightsbridge, with offices on the ground floor and Enever's apartments—where his dupes often enjoyed his lavish hospitality—overhead. In these particular frauds he was assisted by one W. H. Bennett, a previously convicted swindler, who has now again been sent to prison for fifteen months. Another accomplice was a young fellow named Leslie E. Haynes, who on his own account launched last year a ramp styled the Sino-British Trade Association, where, by he bamboozled quite a lot of business firms and some public men. Haynes has gone to jail for six months. Enever, as the moving spirit in the frauds, has not been too severely punished with three years' penal servitude.

There is no doubt that company frauds of this type have increased, and ought to be stopped. How to stop them is the question. This appeared to be in its essential facts a plain case of swindling by Enever, but a dexterous and cunning swindler who operates through joint-stock companies can produce a tangle of technical difficulties, and the trial of this seemingly plain case at the Old Bailey occupied nine days. Of course, it is easy to say that the law should be amended, but it is by no means easy to make practical suggestions for the prevention of fraud which are not open to the objection that they will hamper the honest use of the Companies Act.

I wish to take this opportunity of disclaiming the soft impeachment of the Financial Times that Truth is "the Press." During the trial witnesses mentioned articles in Truth from which they first learned that they were being defrauded. Doubtless in order to spare my blushes the Financial Times carefully kept Truth out of its reports, and in one passage substituted "the

TWO DISCLAIMERS.

Both in the articles in Truth and in the subsequent prosecution Mr. Archibald M. G. Grant of Hankow was named as the vendor to another company of the mining concessions which Humphreys and Denman agreed to take over from that company. Some time ago Messrs. C. and M. Turner, solicitors, wrote on behalf of Mr. Grant, asking me to explain that their client first met Enever when the agreement with the company in question was negotiated, but that he never authorised the publication of his name as a director (or in any other capacity) of any company promoted by Enever.

Mr. W. R. Mousley, who has just returned from India, informs me that he was never a director of Alexander Allan and Co., Limited, one of Enever's above-mentioned companies. Enever frequently made an unauthorised use of names in lists of directors which he filed at Somerset House. As I stated on March 28, Mr. Mousley is a director of the Eastern Metal Co., Limited, which has been formed in India to take over the Indian rights of an Enever concern styled the Golconda Metal Co. Mr. Mousley says there is no reason why the Indian company should not turn out a commercial success. I can only say that for the sake of the shareholders I hope it will do so.

A tray of rings valued at about £700 was stolen from a jeweller's shop in Bond Street, London. A well-dressed man asked to be shown some rings. He left without making any purchase. Afterwards it was found that one of the pads of rings was missing.

RIDDLES OF TO-DAY.

MR. NOYES ON MODERN POETRY.

The riddles of to-day, as propounded by Dr. Alington, Headmaster of Eton, who told the Workers' Education Association that he found things were not getting easier to understand, were being eagerly discussed. He said modern poetry was almost beyond his comprehension.

Mr. Alfred Noyes, the poet, said that while he did not agree that modern poetry was entirely beyond comprehension, there was a section that was sheer nonsense: it had gone absolutely mad and Bolshevist. "These poets," he said, "claim that they are searching for something new, but they only find what they call now by turning nature upside down, and that is what one objects to."

Mr. Galloway Kyle, of the Poetry Society, agreed there was a great deal of poetry written that might be described as incomprehensible, but everyone could understand men like Noyes, Watson and Kipling. "It is America," said Mr. Kipling, "that has gone mad on the other kind of stuff, and those who write it are generally more talked about than read."

Dr. Alington also remarked that modern art as a whole was not easy to understand.

Mr. C. R. W. Nevinston, the artist, said that it was simply a question of the use of eyes. "The most ignorant man who uses his eyes," he added, "is just as likely to be a good judge of a modern picture as an educated man who does not use the eyes."

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

COST OF HONGKONG NAVAL BASE.

Mr. Derbshire asked the First Lord of the Admiralty in the House of Commons what the total cost to date of the Hongkong naval base has been, what its annual recurrent expenditure on Navy account is to-day, and what military establishment is necessary for its protection and the cost of it per annum?

Commander Eyles Monsell: The total cost to date of the capital expenditure incurred on works, buildings and machinery out of Navy Votes and the Naval Works Act during the past eighty-one years is $9,638,867. The annual recurrent expenditure is about $280,000. In regard to the last part of the question, particulars of the military garrison are given on page 28 of the Army Estimates. The estimated cost on the Army Vote for the year 1922-23, including non-effective charges, is £740,000, towards which a contribution estimated at £449,000 will be received from the Colonial Government. The hon. Member will understand that the military garrison is necessary for the protection of the Colony, which would require protection whether there was a naval base there or not.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, JUNE 18, 1923.

RESERVATIONS.

Strangely inconsistent were the Colonial Secretary's remarks about reservations during last week's housing debate. Mr. Fletcher frankly admitted that, so far as Europeans are concerned, reservation form the very root of the matter. Economic pressure, he said, is gradually driving Europeans out of districts where they have lived for many years. Anyone who has searched Hongkong for a house will bear that out. Europeans are always coming and going. When they come they are rarely able to succeed other Europeans. When they go their places are mostly taken by Chinese. With that, as we have said before, one cannot quarrel. Landlords are entitled to take the first tenant who comes. But the matter cannot rest there. Something must be done for the luckless European. And the only thing that can be done for him is to reserve some area where he will not have to compete with heavy odds for a home. This Mr. Fletcher admits. He agrees also that reservations do not involve any racial questions. Reservations are urged, we repeat, not only because different national customs make incompatible neighbours, but also because they promise less costly homes, for the European anyway. They are meant for all nationalities, each forming its own congenial little community. Mr. Fletcher said the Government was prepared to reserve areas for any community wishing to live among its own kith and kin. Again we say bravo. This attitude could not be better. But how has the Government put these noble sentiments into practice? According to Mr. Fletcher, it tried, over a year ago, to make the large area round the lower part of Peak Road a European reservation. And it failed. This seems to have surprised, to have pained it. But then could the scheme ever have had any chance when the area chosen was already studded with houses? Was it likely that the owners could be got to agree to reserve their houses for their own kind when they all had selected their sites without any thought of a possible reservation later and some of them had even doubtless been inspired largely (if not solely) by the desire for a good speculation? Naturally the scheme failed. The Government, however, is still ready to grant reservations. What did the Colonial Secretary say recently in conversation with a well-known resident? "Hear him, I reminded him of a story of Abraham when the Angel announced to him the intended destruction of Sodom: 'I will not destroy the city if ten persons can be found.' I said, 'Find me ten. Or, I will reduce it to five. Find me five who will build houses in this reservation and I am sure the Government will meet them more than half way.' He went out and has not returned." And again Mr. Fletcher seems surprised. How many people did this well-known resident consult? How many did he let into the news that the Government was willing to grant a reservation? How many knew that now before last week's Council debate? Simply because one reservation scheme falls through when applied to a district already settled and "a well-known resident" cannot find five good men the Government must not wash its hands of this matter which it admits itself goes to the very root of the problem. Let the Government boldly announce that it has marked out this area or that for a reservation—good sites abound across the harbour—and let it see what happens. Assume that all the Colony's Europeans are like the small group which recently approached Mr. Fletcher—they are willing to rent in a reservation but they are not willing to build, for the reason that when leaving the Colony they will not leave an open market. Assume that not one—four less than Mr. Fletcher's figure—not one moves into the reservation. How soon will it be before that economic pressure which Mr. Fletcher saw forcing Europeans out of their present districts—how soon will it be before this rising tide has made them glad to find a secure refuge? Settled reservation areas are not created with a wave. They must be occupied gradually by the people who want to live there. One might even grant Mr. Fletcher that never does the Colony at one time possess enough people ready to start a reservation. Some have not yet been squeezed out by that inexorable economic pressure; others are not the pioneer kind. But once the lead is given, once the reservation is provided, see what then! Mr. Fletcher would reply that the old objection would still hold—people would keep aloof for the open market. Doubtless many would. But there are others who want, not a good "spec," but simply a good home. These reserved houses, moreover, would always command their rent, even when the housing problem had become much less acute, for they would always have a very strong appeal for those seeking to live among their own people. Assuredly reservations must succeed. But they cannot, of course, make any real headway until exorbitant building costs have come down. Many people who would build for themselves cannot face the abnormally heavy expense. Consequently a reservation just now offers them little hope. Perhaps that is why Mr. Fletcher's well-known resident has not come back yet. Wait until the Housing Commission's report has been made public and we see how building costs can be reduced—perhaps he may come back then. We hope so.

Engineer Students.

Last week Mr. S. W. T's suggested, in an interview granted to the China Mail, that a scheme could be devised whereby a certain number of graduates from the Course of Engineering at the Hongkong University might, with benefit to all concerned, be employed by the Public Works Department on trial for two or three years with the prospect of being offered permanent posts. We have now canvassed the official attitude on the subject. While the Colonial Government is prepared to examine every avenue with a view to lessening the hardships which these student engineers face on leaving the University, owing to the disturbed state of China, little can be done at present. There are already a few Chinese engineer students in Government employ, but the most the P.W.D. could absorb annually, under present conditions, would not exceed twenty, we understand. Even were there sufficient vacancies to employ any considerable number of engineers in the P.W.D., Chinese students like their Western prototypes would find themselves handicapped unless they had had practical experience. Their Western brothers, after graduating from a school of Engineering, serve a term of apprenticeship to gain practical experience. As apprentices they have to go through the mill with a vengeance. Of course, in most cases impracticable for Hongkong University students for obvious reasons. It is admitted that a limited number might possibly learn the practical side of the trade as pupils of Government engineers, but even that scheme bristles with obstacles. In our opinion, however, a very easy solution can be found by earmarking a portion of the Boxer indemnity, which is to be remitted by the British Government. The University was founded in the hope of affording "to Chinese youths an opportunity of completing their education in their own environment, where they can be visited from time to time by their parents and keep in touch with their kindred." With the funds available, qualified British Engineers could be employed to conduct classes in practical engineering. Students whose parents could not afford to support them could receive an alimentary allowance until they obtained employment. When once order is restored in China, the country will reap the benefit of trained engineers of her own people to develop her railways and mines, and thus add eductively to the well-being and prosperity of her teeming millions.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Entries for the extra gymkhana of the season close on June 23, the meeting having been fixed for July 7.

The silk which left here by the "P. & O." s.s. "Kashgar" on May 16, was delivered in Marshalls on June 16.

The Water Authority notifies that from to-day a constant supply of water will be turned on in the public mains in Kowloon.

Two cases of plague, and one of small pox, Chinese, were notified during the week-end, also one of enteric fever, British.

Accidentally knocked down by motor car no. 553 at Des Voeux Road Central on Saturday, a Chinese male suffered injuries and was removed to hospital.

Last week, while a Malay woman was washing a long cloth on the river-bank at Pompong, in Kedah, an old crocodile, eight feet in length, seized the cloth and began to drag it into deeper water. Unwilling to lose her good cloth, the woman clung tenaciously to it and a tug-of-war ensued. At the end of ten minutes, age told and the saurian was forced to give up the unequal struggle, leaving two of its front teeth sticking in the cloth. These were immediately retained for medicinal purposes.

A buffalo met its death on the Murray Parade Ground on Saturday morning. The animal was intended for slaughter but managed to escape and run amok. After charging a motor-car in Cairne Road, it made its way down Seymour Road, and again dashed into the car. It then chased an Indian. Sergeant and Inspector Reynolds. Both made good their escape. Obtaining a service rifle and ammunition, the latter went in search of the animal, which he finally despatched on the Parade Ground.

A European went out at Seremban after wild pigeons. He got his birds, and the police got him, says the Malay Mail, this being the "close season" for shooting. When the police came to make inquiries, they discovered that he had no licence for a gun to be owned. Then they found out that he had no permit to shoot game. Making further enquiries they discovered that he had an unlicensed motor cycle, and carrying their investigations a little further, they found that he had no licence to drive or ride a motor cycle. Nothing like being thorough.

The June number of the magazine of the Hongkong University Union is quite in keeping with the quotation from Jacques printed on the cover:

"I must have liberty
Withal, as large a charter as the wind.
To blow on whom I please!"
The Editor has gathered a series of articles and comment, and has written a very bright Editorial, which serves to show the numerous activities of the Union. Humour is a prominent feature of the magazine, whilst the sports notes are well written.

News has been received in Shanghai of the recent adventures of the yacht "Shanghai," which sailed from here last February on her 16,000-mile cruise to Copenhagen. The yacht arrived in Batavia on May 15, where apparently two of the six navigators left the boat to finish the remainder of the journey by steamship. This was done because of the impossibility of carrying water for so many. The two men who decided to leave were Captain H. Kjaer and Mr. P. N. Jensen. According to the message received, the journey from Manila was very good, but so little wind that the whole journey had to be made by motor power. The remaining men, Messrs. H. F. Durban, A. Ingwersen, K. Haugland and V. Benison, were expected to sail from Batavia on May 22 for Durban.

MOLLER CHARGES

SHANGHAI PAPER'S COMMENT.

The fact of a company going into voluntary liquidation is unfortunately, too common now to excite much comment in ordinary circumstances. But the case of Moller & Co., reported by us last Friday, calls for searching investigation says the N. C. Daily News. At the meeting Mr. Eric Moller informed the shareholders that in March 1918, the Hongkong Government commandeered their ships at Government rates of charter and then sublet them to China-coast charterers with enormous profit to itself. This, one might think, was bad enough. But far worse, the shareholders were told, was to come. In December, 1919, Moller & Co. prepared to take action against the Hongkong Government in order to force it to disgorge. Thereat, the chairman said, they were requested by the Hongkong Government to stay proceedings in order to enable it to write Home and arrange to get the matter settled amicably. This was agreed to, whereupon the Hongkong Government immediately passed an Indemnity Ordinance which effectively protected it against any such proceedings as those contemplated and, for the crown of its offence, flung back the ships on Moller & Co. at a time of great shipping depression, for which the Company had had no opportunity to build up any reserves. Moller & Co. were thus ruined and left without any hope of redress anywhere. These statements were fully confirmed by Mr. Burkill, and the only point on which further light seems necessary is whether Hongkong acted "on its own" or under instructions from Home. Either way, it is one of the most iniquitous pieces of sharp practice, not to use a plainer term, that we remember, and, unless redress is given, will leave a lasting stain on the fair name of Hongkong. We advise Moller & Co. to send the full facts to "Truth," which is an adept at getting nasty questions pressed in the House of Commons. If Hongkong has merely acted as an agent, let the fact be made plain. But in any case someone ought to smart for it and Moller and Co. be indemnified.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. J. W. Campbell has been appointed an unofficial member of the Straits Legislative Council for a further period of three years.

Mr. P. L. Williams has been appointed a member of the Singapore Harbour Board, an unofficial member of the committee of the Singapore Sailors' Institute, and a member of the Pilot Board, Singapore.

Mr. Shum Tak-kwong, the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs for Kwangsi, specially appointed by the Peking Government, is staying in the Colony at present, awaiting an opportunity to proceed to his post.

Dame Rumouris, of course, ever a lying jade, but people will take and others will listen, says a Malayan paper. The very latest rumour is that Mr. Maxwell, the Chief Secretary, F.M.S., is to receive a high appointment in Hongkong and Sir Frederick James will go to Nigeria, and he is said to love, in an equally high capacity.

The Hon. Anne Kinnaird, eldest daughter of Lord Kinnaird, who recently reached her 21st birthday, has chosen a career in the Salvation Army and has already reached the rank of "captain." Captain Anne Kinnaird, a pretty golden-haired girl of eighteen, is at the Salvation Army Women's Training Centre at Clapton where she is doing housemaid's work.

Another pretty June wedding was celebrated in Shanghai last week with a full choral service at Holy Trinity Cathedral, where the Very Reverend Dean C. J. F. Symons officiated at the marriage of Miss Doris Butler, younger daughter of the late Mr. Ambrose and Mrs. Butler, of Cleethorpes, Lincolnshire, and Mr. William T. Fulstow, ex-Captain of the K.S.L., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fulstow, of Shrewsbury.

Our Hainan Correspondent writes that the Rev. P. C. Melrose and family returned on June 8, to Kiangchow after a short holiday in Hongkong. Mrs. M. R. Doolittle and Miss M. H. Taylor are leaving Hainan on June 17, by the s.s. "Mong-sang." Miss Taylor is on her way to America for a further five years in Hainan, and Mrs. Doolittle is completing a protracted tour of the Orient. She expects to meet her brother, the Rev. Daniel Russell, D.D. of New York, on her way to Peking.

WEEK END SOLILOQUY.

IDLE THOUGHTS ABOUT MANY THINGS.

(Specially Contributed.)

Mesach has been very good to me. His habit on Saturdays, is to stroll in, take a seat, and in a calm leisurely fashion proceed to discuss any particular matter from the claims of Dos-toevsky to the greatest literature, to the ethical effect of jazz on the Chinese mind. He brought with him a number of copies of "The Nation and Athanasium" which included the Jale number of that outstanding journal—the last number that is of the paper under the editorial control of H. J. Massingham. The paper has passed into the control of a school of Manchester liberals led by Mr. J. Keynes—who is a writer and economist of no little standing. The last issue of any paper must always have an aura of romance about it, and when men have been associated under one head for 16 years in a journalistic enterprise, that has stood for everything that is good there is an air of romantic tragedy in laying down the pen and handing over control to others. There is a peculiarly poignant Jale essay which is worth reproduction, but an extract will for the time being suffice. Speaking of the late war, the writer says:—"So long as the European war was avoidable, we endeavoured to avoid it. From the hour when it had become an outrage on humanity, we strove to end it by a peace of negotiation. And when it died of defeat and exhaustion, we pleaded for a settlement in harmony with the professions of all its combatants, and reconcilable with their religion and their ideas of the civilized order. . . . of the words we addressed to the readers of The Nation from 1907 to 1919, we wish only those unsaid which faltered in their plea for peace, or left the pith and manner of their message undelivered." That is a dignified farewell message. Of perhaps greater interest is the account given by Mr. C. F. G. Masterman of the "Nation" lunches which took place each week for 16 years and were attended by members of the staff and friends and outside contributors whom they introduced. There is an eloquent tribute to H. J. Massingham, who generally presided. They "had a sound rule that everyone should speak the truth in him, and that rule often provoked the fiercest of quarrels when every man hurried cheerful insults, or bitter epigrams at his opponent. But I do not remember any lunch ending with any permanent illfeeling between one man and another." This he attributes largely to Massingham "who knew that while men had diverse and almost religious political differences, they were expressing only their own honest minds."

It is peculiar how little unpreconceived things tend to become permanencies in our lives. I am thinking of the three, whom I shall designate Shadrach, Mesach and Abednego, who foregather each Saturday afternoon in a local hostelry and much on the lines of the "Nation's" lunch, proceed to discuss the things which are uppermost in their divergent minds freely, honestly and often-times vigorously, departing just as the "Nation's" staff did, without bitterness, but with probably a higher estimation of each others character.

I had my first view of the Cenotaph on Saturday—Men are still chipping away bringing this thing to its ultimate state of perfection. Already it attracts the attention of thousands and one wonders what the feelings are of those who come to "look see." It is a soul-stirring thing, this Cenotaph of ours. It humbles you. The very chasteness of the simple design has its own message of beauty. You instinctively feel that it is a very fitting tribute to the men who are no more; that self sacrifice is a noble thing. Doubtless "official" instructions will be given that hats are to be doffed when passing the monument and that flowers (not too many of them one may be allowed to hope) will be regularly placed at the foot of the Cenotaph. There should be no need for any such instructions. I venture the belief that we have nothing finer in the Colony that is going to tend so much to a high uplift of character and resolve. I share the opinion expressed recently in the China Mail columns that as a phrase "the finest site should now be relegated to the limbo of forgotten things, but I see no reason why, without the least desiring to be 'puny' we should not call the Cenotaph 'our finest sight'."

Lord Northcliffe's diary of his world trip has now been published and it will be noted what he has to say of the Far East. Here is his observation about women and their drinking habits:—"I dislike the drinking in the Far East. I am told that it is not uncommon thing for a woman to have three or four cocktails before lunch (lunch). At a reception given to

MURDER ALLEGED.

TRIED TO DROWN WITH HIS SON.

MOTHER RECOGNISES BABY'S VOICE.

Before the Chief Justice in the Criminal Court this morning Lo Kam-shan was charged with murder. Inspector Lanigan was in charge of the case.

The Judge, after hearing a rambling statement from the prisoner, advised him to plead not guilty.

The following jury was empanelled: Messrs. C. A. Peel, A. Maher, A. F. Xavier, J. P. Bridger, J. V. dos Remedios, J. R. Way and A. R. Davies.

Mr. A. Dyer Ball, Assistant Attorney-General, appeared for the Crown, prisoner being defended by Mr. N. I. Brewer, instructed by Messrs. Lee and Russ.

Mr. Dyer Ball, in outlining the case, said that on the night of May 25, prisoner was seen by a boat-woman to jump into the harbour with his son, Loh Chang-fa, in his arms. This woman pulled the prisoner out of the water, but he tried to jump in again. He was arrested by a watchman. The child was taken out of the water and hurried to the Kwong-Wa Hospital, where it recovered consciousness. As it happened, the mother of the child was a patient in the hospital. On hearing a child crying, the woman recognized the voice and claimed the child. The child was placed in bed with its mother, but died later.

The accused, continued Mr. Ball, had made a statement to the effect that he had decided it was better for himself and his child to die since the mother had "gone wrong." Mr. Ball said evidence would be produced to prove that prisoner's statement was not borne out by the facts and that on the morning of May 25 he had visited his wife in hospital and had asked her to go home with him.

Dr. Is Kam-wa, surgeon at Kwong-Wa Hospital, was the first witness called. He bore out the statement of the Assistant Attorney-General with regard to the admission of the child to the hospital at 8.30 p.m. and certified as to the cause of death at 11 p.m. on May 25. In reply to Mr. Brewer, witness said he expected the child would recover, otherwise he would not have allowed it to be handed over to its mother. "I thought it best to let the child see its mother so that it would stop crying and relieve the strain on its lungs."

Witness acknowledged that if the respiration had been interfered with after the child had been placed in its mother's bed, it would have been impossible to detect, without a post mortem examination, whether death had been due to immersion or suffocation. From a question put to witness by Mr. Dyer Ball, it appeared no post mortem had been held.

In reply to the Court, witness said that in cases of immersion there was always a danger that the patient, after recovering temporarily, might die several hours after the immersion.

The child, the doctor informed the Court, had died two and a half hours after admission.

The case is proceeding.

me the other afternoon, I saw the women drinking cocktails at five o'clock. The climate has nothing to do with it; it is habit. This climate for the moment is rather like New York: brilliant, bracing, stimulating. Everywhere I go I am offered cocktails and "whisky-soda" (or "stingahs" as they say in the East). The worst brands of champagne are in evidence everywhere.

In another place he refers to "hustling, noisy, richening, cocktail and stingah-drinking Singapore." He says:

Personally I can see no points whatever in tropical life, but, of course, I am much too old to change. The only people I find who like it are (1) Scotsmen, who will go anywhere in the world, make money, and settle down as good citizens without grumbling. (2) People who at home would occupy humble official positions, but are able to figure here as Under-Secretaries, Members of the Council, and the rest of it. (The social status in these little communities is steam-rollered down to exact accuracy.) (3) People including missionaries, who come with a sense of duty to hold up the flag. (4) Suburban folks, who, instead of having one little household drudge, bloom into petty magnificence, hegemon of the obsequiousness of four or five Orientals. On the whole, we are perhaps the best people at this game. Nevertheless, I have come to the conclusion that the adventures come from the old country to leave behind the suburban tubercles. No comment is needed on these obvious truths.
